

Cinema

Behind your smile
There's an emptiness not even beauty can hide.
Down deep inside
Have you ever known Love?
~~It's~~ a difficult lesson to learn:
A choice between Fire and Ice....
Either you freeze or you burn
But either way the dream dies.

Behind your tears,
There's a sentiment too cold for sorrow to show,
But still they flow,
As if meant for the Screen....
Cinema aimed at the heart,
~~none~~ none of the love-scenes were real.
No use rehearsing your part
Until you have learned how to feel.

until you have learned to feel

~~until you've learned how to feel~~

What

Aux Cinema A.C. J

Michael Franks

Behind your smile
there's an emptiness not even beauty can hide

Down deep inside have you ever known love

Difficult lesson to learn
A choice between fire and ice

± either you freeze or you burn

But either way ^{→ you die} the dream dies

Behind your tears there's a sentiment too cold for sorrow to show

But still they flow as if meant for the screen

Cinema aimed at the heart but none of the love scenes were real

No use rehearsing your part

Until you have learned to feel

Til you've learned to feel

Til you learn to feel