

MEDITAÇÃO

= THE SMILE AND THE ROSE =

A. C. Job

When you give your heart
 There is love in your smile and a rose
 Is quite a work of art
 Then your sweetheart goes
 Takes the love from your smile and your rose
 Things are lost when you thought they were close
 When you realize
 It's no use to believe 'cause your dreams
 Are nothing else but lies
 And when nothing seems
 To replace everything that you lost
 Then you think it was not worth the cost
 You will soon forget
 Your troubles are just something of the past
 You will find again
 There is love in your smile and the rose
 Is blooming in the rain
 Tears were not in vain
 They just show you that love can be lost
 To be born once again

I have danced all kind of beats around
